

Scotland

BREATHTAKING AND MAJESTIC

Bewitching landscapes draped in history. This waterway offers rugged grandeur and plenty of space, plus all the benefits of Scottish Highlands hospitality.

Flavours of the region

Sample traditional Scottish cuisine prepared at a lakeside restaurant. Salmon, Game and Venison are amongst the region's local produce, as well as a host of locally produced cheeses. Don't pass up the opportunity to sample Scotland's signature dish – Haggis.

Scotland is also most famous for its whisky, and there are five regional production areas. The varieties of whisky produced in the Highlands range from mellow and sweet to aromatic and flowery, with every shade of flavour between.

Stretching from Inverness to Fort William, the sixty mile long Caledonian Canal takes you through Loch Ness, Loch Oich and Loch Lochy. On the great stretches of open water you are never far from sheltered moorings, and the short canal stretches are full of variety.

About four miles in length, Loch Oich is the smallest of the three lakes which are linked by the Caledonian Canal. It also sits within the Great Glen, the natural rift dividing north-west Scotland from the rest of the country.

Loch Lochy is the most southerly of the three lochs within your cruising ground. Ten miles long and a mile wide and is enclosed by steep wooded hillsides, perfect for those who love hiking.

Angling and game fishing, eagle and osprey spotting, walking and climbing, pony trekking and sightseeing can all be enjoyed, as well as monster tracking in the most famous lake in the world - Loch Ness, the largest lake in Britain.

One week cruises

Caledonian Canal cruise
Return trip – Laggan to Inverness
193 km/10 locks

Not to be missed...

Built on the site of an earlier fortress in 1835, Inverness Castle dominates the town of Inverness from its impressive position overlooking the River Ness.

South of Inverness you will find Drumnadrochit, the centre of the Loch Ness monster industry.

Spend some time at Fort Augustus and visit the Clansman Centre where you can experience something of clan life five hundred years ago.

Cruise to Banavie where you can enjoy a good malt whisky in the distillery before taking the chairlift up to the hilltop restaurant to admire the grandeur of the scenery.

There is plenty of Scottish history to discover at Invergarry Castle, located on the western shore, it was where Bonnie Prince Charlie took refuge before and after the battle of Culloden.